2014 was quite a year in the Pawtuxet Valley. Today, we wrap up our series of some of the more memorable moments of the year with Coventry during the second half of 2014.
